

On March 19th, SAE announced that physical flight events would be cancelled and that the competition would be moved to an online platform due to concerns surrounding the COVID-19 pandemic.

Shortly after this announcement, NAU announced that any in-person activities through the university (including classes) would be cancelled or moved online.

Our team met and decided that we would no longer work on manufacturing and testing our design. We are satisfied with the progress we were able to make. We have finalized and tested our design, and the remaining manufacturing was only to be replicating our prototype for competition- this is no longer needed.

Team meetings are now conducted online with the sole purpose of coordinating class assignments. Meeting minutes are no longer taken, but timecards documenting our meeting times can be provided upon request.
